It being clear (to all who think so) that insurance companies are ferocious animals that cannot be trusted to roam at large unless they are barred and locked in statutory cages, the legislative cagemakers have to keep busy. But the wiley editor saves himself by adding: Now do not ask us how the animals manage to roam at large while locked in cages; we cannot tell how they do it. Some of our friends who live across the bay and cultivate muscle and a tanned expression of countenance by delving in the soil may, possibly, see some point in the following: It was the busy hour of four When from the city hardware store Emerged a gentleman who bore 1 hoe, 1 spade, 1 wheelbarrow. From thence our hero promptly went Into a seed establishment And for these things...
