P., In Consequence of the Unqualified Approbation Expressed by Him, in the House of Commons, of Mr. Lancaster's System of Education: The Religious Part of Which Is Here Shewn to Be Incompatible With the Safety of the Established Church, And, in Its Tendency, Subversive of Christianity Itself; Including Also Some Cursory Observations on the Claims of the Irish Romanists, as They Affect Sir, As the grand design of education is to qualify youth for the stations which they are respectively to occupy in after-life, it may justly be considered as a most auspicious circumstance for this country, that it is a prominent feature of the plan which you lately presented to the House of Commons for the amendment of the Poor Laws, to make the education of the children of the lower classes a national and a legislative object. For it must be presumed, I hope, Sir, that in the pursuit of this object, the Legislature will keep the true design of education, as above described, constantly...
